The Carmel Pine Cone

The Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield is pictured above surrounded by the three "belles" of the Church of the Wayfarer's sixtieth birthday tea on November 4.

At left, is Mrs. P. M. Rowe, 93 years old and one of the most active members in Christian services of the church. Next to her is Miss Etta Paul who became a member of the Church of the Wayfarer 38 years ago this month and has the longest membership record. At right, is Miss L. Lucile Turner, oldest Methodist member (79 years) and who attended the Church of the Wayfarer many summers before joining the congregation 18 years ago.

These three members donned attire typical of the era of the founding of the church on November 4, 1904 for the festivities held on the exact anniversary of the founding last week. Mr. Whitfield is the minister of the Church of the Wayfarer.

Parking Lot Solution To Sunset Costs

A solution as to how the city will meet expenses of operating Sunset School as a cultural and community center after the Carmel Unified School District turns the facility over to Carmel on July 1 was proposed last night by the finance sub-committee of the Sunset Committee.

The main proposal, made by Dr. James Gilman, chairman of the subcommittee, was a parking lot to augment income from rentals of the auditorium and office space. Also discussed was possible use of the facility by small conventions.

If the north playfield at Sunset is turned into a parking lot for a minimum of 120 cars, the income to the city from this lot could amount to $1,100 per month, Dr. Gilman estimated.

Only needed construction would be an entrance and exit at the northeast corner of the playground. No resurfacing would be required and the amount of use given the parking lot would be a good indication of how to plan a permanent and larger multi-level parking facility on the site, he stated.

"I am confident that in parking the city will find the answer to financial needs of operating Sunset. What to do on July 1?" he concluded.

Dr. Gilman and Mrs. E. H. Melvin, finance sub-committee secretary, will prepare a report on the above matter for the council.

This report, to be presented to the city council before the end of this year, will also include the proposal that the city building inspector's office be moved to Sunset next summer. At present the city is paying $125 a month for an office on Junipero Avenue as there is no room at city hall.

Another rental possibility was presented by a third member of the sub-committee, Mrs. Michel McKay, executive secretary of the Carmel Bach Festival.

Present offices of this organization are inadequate and an office at Sunset would be preferable, she reported. The organization is prepared to pay for space at Sunset. Office rent now paid is $90 per month, and the organization might pay more for larger premises at Sunset, she said.

Added to the above financing proposals was rental of the auditorium. The school district realized approximately $100 more last year in rentals than the cost of maintaining the auditorium.

Dr. Gilman's subcommittee estimated the city would need $13,500-$15,000 to keep Sunset operating in its present uses. This money can be raised, easily, they suggest, by the parking lot, office and auditorium rentals.

A fourth member of the subcommittee, Charles Marcolli, proposed use of the Sunset facility, after it becomes city property, by conventions.

Dr. Gilman, in respect to this suggestion, said that Carmel's largest industry was tourism.

"Once the community is oriented to the idea, then we will be able to draw to Carmel small conventions," he declared.

Editor's Column

Last month Mayor Herbert Blanks suggested that citizens "face the facts of life." This statement was made during council consideration of recommendations made by the citizens committee on the preservation of the character of Carmel.

One of these recommendations was that no more hotels or motels be allowed in the city.

Whatever citizens reactions to more motels and hotels may be, one fact is salient, the 1,000 or so overnight accommodations now within the city limits contribute a sizable sum of money to the city.

I think this is a fact of life such as Mayor Blanks suggested facing. Let's do so!

At present, a tax of three percent is levied on the price of all overnight lodgings. On January 1, this tax will be raised to four percent.

In 1962-63, the three percent lodging tax was in effect for two quarters and totalled $25,263.

In 1963-64, lodging tax income to the city for four quarters was $76,441.

So far, only two quarters of the 1964-65 taxing time have passed. During this April to September period, the lodging tax has amounted to $51,887.

Therefore, from the time of its inception in 1962 until the end of September, 1964 the three percent lodging tax has realized a total income to the city of $153,592. Averaged, this sum equals $76,796 per year.

PUBLIC HEARING ON AREA PLAN

Tuesday evening, the Carmel Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan at 8 p.m. in the city hall. Invitations to attend the hearing have been sent to owners of large parcels of land in the Carmel planning area, also to groups interested in the future development of the same area.

Prior to making a recommendation to the city council on the adoption of the area plan, the commission intends to evaluate the differences between Carmel's general plan and the area plan.

In the area plan, the portion dealing with the environs of Carmel proposes many types of land uses not designated in the Carmel plan.

The planning commission, conscious that many individuals and groups may feel that they have not had the opportunity to express themselves on designations in the area plan, wishes to ascertain as fully as possible the attitudes and reactions of all interested parties on that portion of the plan affecting the Carmel planning area.

Sierra Club Urges Citizens To Protect Remaining Redwoods

The Sierra Club Outdoor Newsletter published last Friday makes a plea for preservation of California's virgin redwood forests, particularly those forests which are in danger of being destroyed for state freeway construction.

By means of 19 remarkable photographic reproductions and a minimum of text, the threat to irreplaceable redwoods is presented, also the devastation consequent to the removal of the trees for roads, or by logging operations. Many of the illustrations picture redwood state parks which are being sacrificed for freeways. These include Humboldt Redwoods State Park, Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park and Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park.

The brochure states that the only hope of saving remaining

Public Meetings On Annexation

The ad hoc committee of the city council will hold public meetings to consider the economic and social aspects of annexation of the three areas which have petitioned the City.

The first such meeting will be held in the city council chambers at 3 p.m. on Tuesday for the purpose of hearing facts and opinions of the residents and property owners of the area known as Carmel Point, Annexation Area 3.

The second such meeting will be held in the same place at 3 p.m. November 19, to hear from the residents and property owners of Annexation Area 2, which includes all of the Mission Tract and additions, except for addition No. 2.

The third of these meetings will also be held in the council chambers, at 8 p.m. on November 23, to hear from the residents and property owners of Annexation Area 1, which includes Mission Fields, Rioway Tract, Walker Tract, Mission Tract No. 2, and the Carmel Mission.

At these meetings, the committee will gather information and opinions from residents and property owners of the areas concerned, as well as attempt to answer any questions from the public on matters of fact concerning annexation.

Seek not for happiness in men or things, or places, or in fond rememberings. Nor does it yield to youth or mounting years, nor as a vision suddenly appears.

The more you search, you only roam in vain 'til finally your thoughts come home again. For only in your heart can surely be the key to happiness — maturity.

For one may hunger, yet have peace of mind; and in the hunt for wealth be left behind. The busy mind that's calm as calm can be, with love of work, produces harmony.

So seek no more afar, but be content that happiness needs no embellishment, but self-sufficiency, to dare to live for love of life and all it has to give.

'A Thousand Clowns' At Studio Is Subtle, Enjoyable Entertainment

by Carolyn Elstob

Laughs galore in an unusual comedy are in store for Monterey Peninsula theatre enthusiasts who wend their way to the Studio Theatre to see "A Thousand Clowns."

Advance notices proclaimed Herb Gardner's piece, "an outer fringe comedy." True, "A Thousand Clowns" is just that, if that is what you are looking for. But, this reviewer found much, much more in the fast-paced, beautifully acted story of a young TV script writer who refuses to conform, also rejects success patterns offered him by his brother; by a social service worker; and by a "voice box," (the TV star).

Murray Burns, quite flawlessly enacted by Roy Baxter, dares to flaunt his defiance to convention. He is aided and abetted, through two hours of hilarious complications, by his 12-year-old nephew, a fast-talking lovable brat with an upper strata I.Q., and a glamorous, bewitchingly confused lady up-lifter, who coos, rants and philosophizes with sustained gusto.

Director Michael Keller has done a superb job in casting, and equally worthy is his "in depth" direction. He walks the perilous path between slapstick and forced comedy . . . and descends to neither.

Roy Baxter in the leading role makes Murray Burns, young man of many moods, a lovable and unforgettable character. Particularly fine were the scenes between Murray and his conformist brother, Arnold, played with finesse and sincerity by Paul Elliott. Their arguments for and against patterned living afforded both actors opportunity (rare indeed in a comedy) to prove their ability in polished elocution.

Myrtlerose Craig, luscious, vital and "pretty as a picture" romped through her demanding role with contagious verve and sustained excitement. She was indeed today's young independent, in the smartest clothes I've seen in many a moon. A splendid actress, Miss Craig was delightful, and a perfect foil for Rod Allison who played the sappy role of Arnold Amundson, the exasperatingly virtuous social worker, with thoroughly convincing determination.

Ray Cadena as Leo "Chuckles" Herman, star of a children's program, won the side-splitting laughs of the evening. Mr. Cadena, in his all too short appearances on the Studio stage, presents the moonfaced Chuckles as a TV performer verging on the moronic whose juvenile gropings toward understanding "what it's all about" are skilfully projected.

And finally! Cheers for one of Carmel's youngest and most able actors! Bob Huber as the precocious 12-year-old, central figure of the evening's tale, was terrific. He played his long and colorful role with the naturalness and assurance of a veteran performer. We wish that, in Act One, he had slowed up a bit, as it is in his long speeches then that the atmosphere of the play is established. Bob's remarkable power of projection and sense of timing should take him far.

Sets were created for "A Thousand Clowns" by Ruth Jordan Allen. Ruth Anderson is production manager, and Dorothy Harding, in charge of properties. Dance and music consultants are Studio Theatre producer Betty Hackett and Julie Doerr.

"A Thousand Clowns" will play weekend evenings through December, with dinner served 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and curtain time, 8:30 p.m.

Premiere Of Film By Carmelite This Week End In Valley

In the making since early last summer, "Flower Beneath the Foot" filmed in color by Orson Durand, will have its premiere at the Tantamount Theatre in Carmel Valley tomorrow night, with a repeat performance on Saturday evening.

Carmel's only motion picture writer, producer and director, Dr. Durand has made his home here for the past three years. After winning his doctorate in literature at Oxford University in England, Dr. Durand taught world literature for 20 years at Columbia University in New York City. He tells, however, that his family were never too impressed by his erudition.

Orson Durand's mother was a famous child actress, Kitty Hughes. A cousin, Maude Durand, played opposite Lionel Barrymore for many years and the beloved comedian, W. C. Fields, was his uncle. It was quite natural that Orson's parents would expect him to follow along, in the theatre.

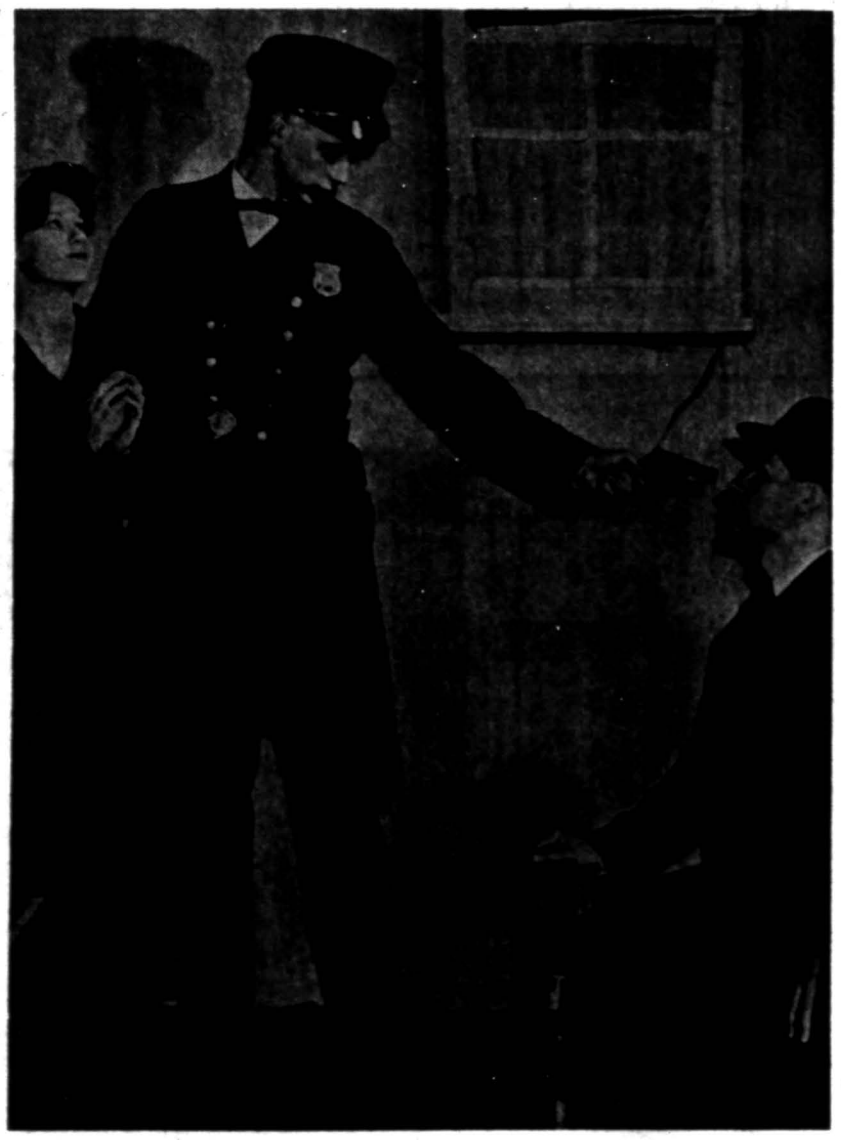

A bit more than three years ago, the professor of literature was asked to join the faculty of Monterey Peninsula College. He was completely won by Carmel, but resigned from his duties at MPC after a few short months, in favor of creating films.

"Flower Beneath the Foot" with a cast of local talent, is filmed against a Peninsula background including Point Lobos, the beaches, streets and gardens of Carmel, Cannery Row and Monterey wharf.

Featured players in the highly symbolic short (25 minutes), include Jean Morisot, Diana Leroi, Kathy O'Halloran, Robert Bedwell and artist William Patrick-West who actually plays the role of an artist.

In telling of his production, Orson Durand said, "Viewers at the Tantamount tomorrow night will see an art film. My idea was to give the audience credit for having some intelligence of its own, and I purposely have not spelled out the situations. I don't attempt to solve any life mysteries. I leave it to the spectator to assign his on interpretation to the story."

In addition to the Durand film, the 1954 Japanese classic, "Ugetsu" will be shown.

A dramatic moment in California's First Theatre presentation of "Rags To Riches" depicts, above, police officer Lou Hansen rescuing the lovely heroine, Terry Leach, from the clutches of the villain's henchman, Slade, played by Jim Dooley.

Community Invited To Inspect Trevvett Court

Mrs. Fred L. Glascock, president of the Carmel Foundation, issues an invitation to the people of the community, as well as to members of the foundation, to attend an open house at Trevvett Court on Sunday afternoon from 1 - 5 p.m. During this time most of the nine apartments in the court will be open to visitors.

Ever since its beginning, Carmel Foundation has hoped to provide housing at reasonable cost to older persons on limited fixed incomes, also located near shops, churches, restaurants, professional offices and within easy level walking distance of Town House. This has been accomplished in Trevvett Court.

Dr. Robert P. Parsons, chairman of the housing committee, reported on the background of the project at the foundation's board meeting today and then asked Dr. Remsen Bird to present members of the Trevvett family and make the formal announcement of the naming of the building, which was formerly Winona Lodge. It will be called Trevvett Court in honor of the late Mrs. Jane Trevvett.

DEDICATION

In his speech, Dr. Bird said, "It is most fitting that the apartment building now acquired by the Carmel Foundation, to provide low rental housing for its members, shall be named Trevvett Court.

"This foundation, directed to the service of older people, concerned for their care and the goodness of their lives, owes its origin and support in the years of its beginning and the proving of its value, fundamentally to Jane Egan Trevvett, honorary president.

"The story of how it came into being, grew rapidly and in increasing effectiveness and in the reception of generous support, in the counsel of a devoted board of trustees and the administration of such wise and understanding directors, is a very noble tale!

"When, may this be added, the citizens of a community accept the responsibilities for the proper regard for the needs of its young and old, the beauty and order and dignity of the life therein and its basic character becomes to all an inspiration.

"Such is the story of Carmel and such a citizen was Jane Egan Trevvett, whom we as a board of trustees, delight to honor in giving this building her name!"

CHS Fun Night Was A Glorious Success

As reported by Kathy Burkett

Fun Night, the first student jollification of the school year, was held at Carmel High School on Tuesday night, and it was a glorious success!

Seniors Kathy Burkett and Erica Steinberger were general chairmen, and to their delight, 400 students romped into CHS gymnasium in festive mood. "That was the largest attendance ever," Kathy reported.

Basketball started the evening program with the sophomores playing the juniors — the juniors won. Then the seniors took over and played the sophomores and to shrieks of delight, the seniors were victorious.

The three-legged relay race that followed, with gunny sacks hampering progress, brought another victory to the seniors.

Then came the climax of the evening, the crowning of the King and Queen. But there was nothing stuffy or solemn about it. Wendy Knight, as the Queen, wore a crown created from wire hangers, festooned with outer-world flowers, such as never grew on this planet. The King, Pete Steffen, flaunted his royalty with a great aluminum pot, dramatized with multi-color balloons, on his head. The royal personages are both mighty seniors. Presenting the crowns and royal sceptres were Beth Blout and Marilyn Haber. Masters of ceremony were Randy Mapstead and Bill Stowers.

The juniors and seniors presented class skits that would have put many a contemporary playright to shame.

"What Our Teachers Might Have Been" was performed by the juniors, and stopping the show was the impersonation of Mr. Charles Moody, teacher of history and world geography, as a doctor, advising a confused patient. Apparently the "doctor" made an amazing diagnosis.

"Queen for a Day" was the senior class offering, with boys impersonating the would-be queens. Kathy's report on the Queen skit was interrupted with paroxysms of giggles. She did say that it was a kind of fashion show with the boys quite irresistible with inch-long eyelashes and orange-glow lip stick.

The Talent Contest was, according to a report, "way out," with the Juniors' Combo (singer Bard Sherman at the piano); and the Seniors' Folk Singing Group that included Peg Cole, Pat Cornet and Jay Lang.

The grand finale was the tug of war and the juniors were the all-out winners, beating both the sophomores and the seniors.

The gymnasium was a riot of color—red for the seniors; blue for the juniors and green for the sophomores. Huge posters proclaiming each class's prestige adorned the walls, "Seniors Rule" being, of course, the biggest.

Cakes, cookies, apple cider and coke revived the hungry and thirsty 400, during, our reporter insists, "the greatest party CHS ever had."

A crowded calendar awaited Douglas Campbell, artistic consultant to the Festival Theatre Foundation of California, when he arrived here Tuesday night.

Yesterday, Mr. Campbell flew to Los Angeles with Gordon Hall, president of the board of directors of the foundation, also Richard Osborne, newly named member of the board. In Southern California they met with Ralph Bellamy and Martin Dibner, members of the State of California Arts Commission, then returned to the Peninsula.

This morning, Mr. Campbell gave a radio interview. Late this afternoon, he will meet members of the press at the Carmel home of Howard Brunn, one of the vice presidents of the Festival Theatre Foundation. This evening, representatives of local theatres will gather at the home of Nick Zanides in Carmel Valley. Mr. Campbell will be the guest of honor at this party.

Tomorrow, Mr. Campbell will lunch with representative Peninsula businessmen at Mark Thomas Inn. Howard Brunn will be their host.

At a cocktail party tomorrow at the home of Dr. James Niebel, the other vice president of the Festival Theatre Foundation, local, state and military officials will meet Mr. Campbell.

Later in the evening he will participate in a seminar with central California educators in the little theatre on Monterey Peninsula College campus. Morgan Stock will be the host for this event.

On Saturday, Mrs. Robert Rogers will be the hostess for a luncheon in Salinas. On this occasion, Mr. Campbell will meet representatives of Salinas cultural groups.

Saturday evening, Richard Osborne will entertain at a cocktail party in his Cannery Row studio in honor of Mr. Campbell. This will be the last event on the visitor's program. He will leave the Peninsula Sunday morning.

Bank Of America Mails Checks To Peninsula Residents

A $421,211 pre-Christmas present from Monterey Peninsula area residents to themselves will help spur what may be the greatest Yuletide shopping spree in the city's history, it was reported today by Gus Johnson, manager of Bank of America's Carmel branch.

That's the amount Bank of America will distribute from Christmas Club savings accounts to local residents in time for the holiday shopping season. Christmas Club checks will be mailed beginning on Saturday.

The local savings are part of $79.6 million accumulated by nearly 450,000 Californians in Bank of America branches throughout the state since last Christmas. The $79.6 million total in the thrift program's 41st year of operation surpasses the record high established last year by more than $2 million.

Stamp Club Annual Meeting On Monday

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club, a chapter of the American Philatelic Society, will meet at 7 p.m. Monday evening at Reuben's Dinner House in the Carmel Valley for its annual dinner and installation of officers.

Sierra Club Urges Citizens To Protect Remaining Redwoods

redwood stands is the immediate establishment of a substantial national park, bought and paid for with federal funds. California's state parks have helped the redwoods to survive but the state and private donors do not have enough money to buy enough redwoods, soon enough, to assure the protection of forest already in public ownership.

Anyone who wishes to help preserve the redwoods is asked by the Sierra Club to write to Governor Edmund G. Brown telling how they feel about freeways in the redwood parks, also send a copy of this letter to Edwin L. Z'Berg, chairman of the Assembly committee on natural resources, planning and public works. These may both be addressed to the State Capitol, Sacramento.

In addition, the Sierra Club asks those concerned about the plight of California's redwood forests, and the establishment of a national park to save them, to write to President Lyndon B. Johnson, The White House, Washington, D.C. 25, also to Congressman Burt L. Talcott and California U.S. Senators Kuchel and Murphy.

CAR COLLISIONS

There were two automobile collisions in Carmel yesterday. Neither of them, apparently, caused major injuries.

Cars driven by Lloyd Archie Gash of Seaside and Robert Lee Vest of Fort Ord collided at Carpenter and First. A passenger in the Vest vehicle, Sandra Green of Monterey, received slight injuries and the driver of the car appeared to suffer from shock, according to the Carmel police department report.

The second collision occurred at the intersection of Ocean and Lincoln. Automobiles driven by Ray John Cadena and Edwin Dickinson Miller, both of Carmel, were involved in this incident.

Carmel Charms Burnetts

Just another case of Carmel charm . . . Donald G. Burnett, D.D.S., with his wife, Linda, came here in August to visit Don's former college mate, Dr. John Faia III, and Mrs. Faia (Lacy Williams). Up to that point the young Burnetts were sure that they were southern Californians, for life. Don is a graduate of University of Southern California dental school (that was where he met Jack Faia) and was established in association with a senior dentist in Los Angeles.

Three days in Carmel changed everything. The Burnetts, with their two children, Lisa, aged five, and Jeffrey, seven, are now settled in their home on Yankee Point. Dr. Burnett is now associated with Dr. Harry Bullard of Monterey.

Dr. Faia is a specialist in dentistry for children opening his own office in Dormody Court, Monterey, this week.

The Faias were dinner guests in the Burnett's new home on Tuesday evening. The group agreed they had multiple cause for celebration.

Letter To Editor

Editor's Note: the following is printed at the request of the signers.

TO CARMEL CITY COUNCIL

As neighboring residents who have long enjoyed cordial relations with the City of Carmel and its business institutions, we wish to express our renewed opposition to the unwarranted continuation of annexation proceedings. Specifically, we object to the recommendations of the Carmel Planning Commission that the City Council approve circulation of official petitions for annexation of Carmel Point, Mission Tract, Walker Tract and Mission Fields.

The Bureau of Public Administration has warned that any annexation proceedings should be initiated only after there is a substantial evidence of agreement among the people in the areas to be annexed, rather than being imposed upon them by city officials desiring to create an enlarged municipality. Ostensibly, annexation proceedings have been revived by the city because of a request made by a few residents of the areas under consideration.

There has never been any effort made by the proponents of the annexation plan, nor by the City Planners, to find out if there was any substantial sentiment in favor of annexation by the people who will be most affected—and pay the cost involved. We have conducted a written poll of the property owners in the three areas mentioned in the Planners Report. Of the several hundred replies received to date, less than 5% are in favor of annexation.

Despite this overwhelming opposition to annexation, the City Planning Commission in making their report did not consult with us, refused to permit a single opponent to speak at its meetings, or even to ask a single pertinent question. It has limited its report to evidence favoring annexation, and has sought to convey the erroneous impression that such services as mail delivery, etc. will not be jeopardized.

Public statements have been made, referring to us as "parasites," "irresponsible," "selfish," and implying that a majority of the area residents is "seeking annexation." Such methods used to force annexation can only have an unfortunate, divisive effect, and create ill-will within the community.

We therefore respectfully request the Carmel City Council to table the report and discontinue all annexation proceedings. In the absence of a significant number of persons favoring annexation we feel that further official proceedings are not only a waste of both our time and your money, but an unwarranted intrusion upon the right of privacy of the residents of Mission Tract, Mission Fields, Walker Tract and Carmel Point.

Respectfully submitted,
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,

ANNEXATION

PROFESSOR LAGORIO

Professor Henry J. Lagorio, assistant dean, College of Environmental Design, University of California, Berkeley, at right, will present a slide lecture to members of the American Federation of Arts, Monterey Peninsula Chapter, also other interested persons, at the association's headquarters in Carmel on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Titled "How To Look At the City of Rome," illustrated with 93 color slides, will examine various aspects of the Eternal City, detailing its urban development from ancient times to the present, and reviewing the important churches of Rome with emphasis on the Basilica of St. Peter. Professor Lagorio was granted special permission by the Vatican to photograph the interior of the Basilica. The lecture will conclude with slides of Rome's famed landmarks and legends and anecdotes pertaining to the Roman people, their traditions, customs, and daily life.

Mr. Lagorio's observations on the city were supplemented by a series of conferences and seminar meetings with Pier Luigi Nervi, Italy's renowned architect-engineer.

Mr. Lagorio is supervising the restoration and conversion of Forest Hill School, designed by Bernard Maybeck, into a studio-residence. He obtained this Carmel property in 1962.

Tickets for Professor Lagorio's lecture are available at the American Federation of Arts headquarters ($1.00 for members, and $1.50 for non-members). The lecture will be open to the public.

A.F.A. CHRISTMAS SALE

Mrs. Robert E. Work, general chairman for the Christmas Creations Show sponsored by the local chapter of the American Federation of Arts to be held December 1-2 at the Mark Thomas Inn, will be assisted in an overall capacity by Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Jennison Heaton and Ritchie Dunn.

Committee chairmen named are Mrs. William Arnold, Christmas items for sale (table decorations, trees, wreaths, etc.); Mrs. Barbara Tripp, display; Mrs. Edward Wedlake, Champagne Preview Night (December 1); Mrs. August Armanasco, hostesses; Mrs. Clyn Smith Jr., ticket sales and door prizes; Mrs. Philip H. Smith, publicity.

In charge of hostesses for a colorful International Night planned for December 3 is Mrs. Hans von Richter.

The project is an annual event for the A.F.A. and will this year be expanded to include some 300 Christmas creations for sale to the public, many of them the work of professional artists and craftsmen of the Monterey Peninsula. Tickets are available at A.F.A. headquarters at Lincoln and Ocean in Carmel.

Orson Welles Film

"The Lady from Shanghai," a film written, produced and directed by Orson Welles in 1948, will be shown at Monterey Peninsula College on November 19.

Two screenings—at 7 and 9 p.m.—are scheduled in the library lecture hall. Free tickets may be picked up now at the college administration building reception desk. Persons requesting tickets by mail are asked to specify performance desired and enclose stamped, sell-addressed envelope.

The story concerns a grim triangle formed by Welles, as a swaggering Irish sailor; Rita Hayworth, as a beautiful, reckless woman of the world; and Everett Sloane, as her crippled lawyer husband who delights in sadistic mental cruelty. The climax in a deserted amusement park fun house has become famous as a cinematic ending.

A short feature, "The New Look is the Anxious Look," will also be screened.

Child Conference To Be Located In Red Cross Building

The Well Child Conference in Carmel has changed location and day, the Monterey County Health Department announces.

Beginning December 17, the program will be held at the American Red Cross building, corner of Eighth and Dolores streets. The monthly session will continue to be held on the third Thursday of each month from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

It is important to call the health department (FR 2-4583) for an appointment. Conferences are served by interested and faithful volunteers, a local physician, and public health nurses.

Formerly held at the Church of the Wayfarer on the first Thursday, well infants and pre-school children received routine health examinations and services while their parents became informed on child health procedures.

SIERRA CLUB KNAPSACK TRIP

Depending on the weather, an overnight trip Little Sur to Big Sur is planned for Saturday and Sunday by the Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club. The planned hike route is up the south fork of the Little Sur River, around the base of Pico Blanco, and over to Vado Camp to spend Saturday night. Sunday's hike will include a climb to Post Summit, several miles along the ridge to Mount Manuel, thence downhill to Pfeiffer State Park. Roy Anderson is leader for this trip.

ALMOST CARMELITES

"Just as soon as I become acclimatized, accustomed to taking off that extra sweater because of the noonday sun, and putting it back on in a hurry because of your swift evening breezes, I hope I, and my family, may call ourselves Carmelites."

James Welch who has lived in the San Fernando Valley for many years, has moved into his new home on Mission, south of Eleventh Avenue. Helping him get settled is his daughter, Miss Donna Welch. Mrs. Welch and young grandson, Jerry, are expected to arrive from El Centro next week.

With many years of experience in his field, Mr. Welch will represent Mission Memorial Park in this area. He was formerly connected with the Imperial Valley Memorial Park in El Centro, and the Eternal Valley Memorial.

In California... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In California...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

COAST PROPERTY OWNERS ASSOCIATION

The Coast Property Owners Association will hold its first annual meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Big Sur Grange Hall.

The group was organized one year ago when a large number of property owners and interested residents gathered to discuss forming such an organization. Guest speaker on that occasion was Bruce G. Woolpert, president of Granite Rock Company and owner of Pico Blanco. Mr. Woolpert was invited to come before the meeting to explain his company's plan to remove limestone from the well-known landmark in the Little Sur River area. During his talk the speaker outlined the complete plan for removal and transporting of the material. The former Stanford University professor and present chairman of the Santa Cruz County Planning Commission and vice chairman of the State Planning Commission, stated that the fastest possible rate of attrition of the vast deposit, would be 400 feet in 1,000 years.

During the past year, directors of the association and appointed representatives from various coastal areas have held meetings and drafted by-laws. In announcing the forthcoming meeting, Ralph B. Atkinson, president, states that membership is open to all property owners on a voting basis, and to all residents on a participating but non-voting basis.

"The stated purpose of the association," according to Mr. Atkinson, "is to protect and defend the rural, residential, and recreational character, and the natural and esthetic beauty of the Coast Area; to provide for the health, safety, and welfare of the members of the area, to encourage community service, and otherwise to act in the interests of the residents and property owners of the community."

THE BIG SUR ROUNDUP

Big Sur's monthly newspaper, The Big Sur Roundup, will begin its tenth year of publication with the December issue. The paper is an activity of the H.E.C., the women's auxiliary of the Big Sur Grange. It was begun in 1955 as a means of communicating with grange members in the area who did not have telephones. At first it was circulated without charge but as the demand for it increased, a charge of $2.00 per year was established to help offset cost of paper, printing and postage. The Roundup now reaches several hundred residents and interested people throughout the country. The news gathering, compiling, all the details of its publication are donated by grange members.

Another activity of the grange is the showing of "movies" at the Grange Hall every Saturday night. Coming this week will be "Requiem For A Heavyweight," starring Mickey Rooney, Jackie Gleason and Julie Harris; on November 21, "I'm All Right, Jack" with Peter Sellers; and on November 28, "Patterns," with Van Heflin, and Everett Sloane.

Still another activity of the Big Sur Grange is the annual community Christmas party, to which every member of the area is invited. All year long members are busy making "gifts" and making plans for this much looked-forward-to annual event.

The result of many years of cooperative effort is the Big Sur Cookbook, and interesting and delightful collection of proven recipes, "cooking tips," menus, etc., bound into an attractive, decorative cover. The cookbook is fast becoming a collector's item. Copies of it have been bought and sent to many parts of the world.

NEPENTHE CONCERT

The San Francisco Repertory Players will present a program of Teleman, Shostakovich, Beethoven, Bloch and Scarlatti at Nepenthe, Big Sur, tomorrow evening beginning at 8:30. Taking part in the musical event will be Jane Hohfeld, at the piano, Frances Schorr, violin, Julia Haug Lee, flute, Lenore James, cello, and Anna Carol Dudley, soprano.

Authentic Dogpatch Decor, Costumes At Junior High Dance

Carmel Junior High School went Dogpatch with abandon Saturday night, when eighth and ninth graders held their Sadie Hawkins Day dance.

Almost-life-sized Yokum characters chased each other around the gym walls. Papiermache schmoos sat on basketball rings, also in their traditional heap-of-plenty pose in the middle of the room. Crepe paper streamers were everywhere and the locker room doors were cleverly disguised.

In good mountain style, huge vats of kickapoo-joy-juice welcomed thirsty dancers, and the refreshment table was heaped with cupcakes, brownies, and cookies.

Costumes were obligatory, with first honor going to Poppy Creedon and her pig, and second honor to Suzanne Desjarlais. Most of the girls wore gunny sacks decorated with bows, hearts, and ruffles. Boys were first-class hayseeds in frazzled shirts and cut-off jeans. Mr. Joe Broadman arrived as Skunk Hollow's finest, resplendent with tie and high hat . . . (and pajama-stuffed muscles!)

Winners of the dance contest were Robert Harris and Nancy Vartabedian; Steve Hall and Diane Lando. Special recognition was given dancers Patterson, Broadman and Yurkovich!

Chaperones were teachers, Parents Club board members, and parents. Music was by The Imperials.

Mary Jane Thompson, student body president, planned the event; Julie Fehring and Kim Dennis were refreshments chairmen; Wade Rose, decorations chairman.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR HARRY GOLDEN LECTURE

Harry Golden, the rotund, bespectacled publisher of The Carolina Israelite whose pungent essays have entertained the country in a series of best-selling books, will lecture at Monterey Peninsula College on November 20.

Entitling his talk "Only in America," he will speak at 8 p.m. in the Armory on campus. Free tickets, to a limit of four per request, are available now in the college administration building or may be requested by mail, according to John G. Schaub, MPC evening division dean. Mail requests must be accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Carolina Israelite—or Harry Golden (they are actually one and the same)—has grown from an initial circulation of 400 to slightly under 50,000 today because, say friendly critics, of its appealing combination of homespun philosophy, whimsy and erudition.

Memorial Concert For John F. Kennedy

A John F. Kennedy memorial concert will be presented by the Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra on November 22 at Monterey Peninsula College.

Directed by John Gosling, conductor of the symphony, the concert will begin at 4 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall. The public is invited to attend without charge. No tickets will be required for admission.

The program will include Wagner's "Siegfried Idyll," Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 5" and Schubert's "Symphony No. 5."

Featured in the Brandenburg number will be Ray Fabrizio, MPC faculty member and flutist; George Nagata, violinist and the symphony's new concertmaster; and Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist.

The chamber group consists of regular members of the symphony. The November 22 concert will be presented "to create a greater interest in live music performances" with the cooperation of Local 616, American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Recording Industries' Trust Fund.

LOCAL CENSUS

Mrs. Mary L. Upjohn will interview in the Carmel area next week for the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

According to a report from the bureau, she will ask questions designed to provide national information on employment and unemployment on visits to a scientifically chosen sample of local households.

CUT OUT AND SAVE

A few tips on cutting the cost of winter heating bills.

1. Good insulation pays for itself.
Floor and ceiling insulation lets you heat rooms quickly—for less money. Because it increases your home's value—it can pay for itself.

2. Heat circulation requires good ventilation.
If you vacuum the filter from a forced-air furnace you needn't replace it as often. Cleaning wall and floor heaters also insures an even flow of air.

3. Heat dollars can go up the chimney and out the window.
Open fireplace dampers and big picture windows let heat escape. Close the damper when there's no fire, and draw the drapes or curtains in cold weather.

4. Weather strip now, be warm later.
Weather stripping will plug heat leaks around windows and doors. A metal strip's good for doors, thick felt stripping's best around loose windows.

5. Control temperature (and tempers).
Set your thermostat at, say 69°—and leave it there. If Junior says he's cold have him put on a sweater. Frequent temperature changes mean a bigger bill.

6. A little light on your winter bill.
Cold weather increases your use of gas or electricity. Your winter PG&E bill reflects shorter days, more lights and TV, more cooking and new appliances.

Service Bargain
Since 1961 there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. Today, the typical customer pays less than 30 years ago for the same amount of gas and electricity. Which means PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

Parent-Faculty Club Meeting Tuesday

The Carmel Junior High School Parent-Faculty Club will meet Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the school library to hear Dr. Wayne E. A short program of folk music will be provided by Joe Broadman's guitar students; refreshments will follow the meeting.

Nowadays you find extension phones wherever people live a lot — in the kitchen, workshop, bedroom and patio. But here's one that tops them all! When the world's champion flagpole sitter took his lofty perch on Atlantic City's boardwalk, one of his first requests was for a phone. He got one. An extension was connected to a nearby hotel switchboard and run up the pole to him. It may not have saved the champion any steps, but it was sure located where he lived a lot.

Olympic Games always provide a world of thrills—the great sportsmanship, the new records, the friendly goodwill among nations. And with each Olympiad come marvelous changes that win no medals but add enjoyment to these events. This year, for example, Americans could watch the impressive opening ceremonies live and direct from Tokyo via a communications satellite. And, Americans in Japan sharing Olympic thrills with folks back home enjoyed telephone conversations as clear as crosstown calls—thanks to the recent opening of the first telephone cable between America and Asia.

November 4, 1924 marked the first radio broadcast of presidential election returns. (Telephone lines helped make it possible just as they do today.) How's your history? Coolidge defeated John W. Davis.

A telephone customer just solved a mystery. You see, she frequently came home to find her telephone off the hook. It turned out to be the work of her pet dog. Seems that whenever the phone rang, Fido would do the customary thing; he'd answer it. He'd just jump up on the table, push the handset off, and bark into it until he heard a voice from the other end. So the customer ordered a Bell Chime ringer through her telephone business office in the hope that her dog will be fooled when a melodic chime takes the place of the familiar telephone ring. Doggone good idea!

NICKI WILSON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Neil Wilson announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Neal (Nicki), to Ensign Michael Lisenby McMahan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Otto McMahan of Fresno and Carmel.

Nicki and Michael both graduated from Stanford University in June. Nicki is back on the Stanford campus studying for a master's degree in education and Michael is stationed in San Diego aboard the U.S.S. Belle Grove. The date of their marriage depends on Michael's future Navy orders.

A graduate of both Sunset and Carmel High Schools, Nicki became a member of Cap and Gown, women's honorary society at Stanford, during her undergraduate years. This year she is serving on the dean's staff as a graduate assistant at Roble Hall. Her sister, Sherri, is a freshman at the University of California in Santa Barbara.

Michael was affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity at Stanford. His sister, Marsha Lee McMahan, is a senior at Bullard High School in Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland A. Wilson of Pacific Grove are Nicki's grandparents.

Wine Tasting A Success

Although returns from the sale of tickets are not yet all in, Mrs. Ben Ostrom, president of the Children's Home Mother Goose Chapter, reports that last Sunday's party at Del Monte Lodge was a splendid success. The wine-tasting, with chapter members and their husbands presiding at each table, drew crowds, who went on to view the paintings. The art showing, sponsored by the Laky Galleries, included the works of many local artists. Winning high praise were canvases by William Watts, S. C. Yuan, John O'Shea, W. H. Clapp, Othello Michetti, Zyta Laky, Monte, Thomas McGlynn, Paul Mays, Herbert Lewis, Lodewyck Bruckman, Sam Harris and William Adam.

The Winnie the Pooh Chapter of the Society will present a "Christmas Fantasy" at Del Monte Lodge on December 4.

Plaxton-Brown Move

City Auditor Arthur M. Plaxton and Mrs. Plaxton, their son-in-law and daughter, Don and Betty Brown, and the Brown children, Bruce, Mark, Julie and Dorie wakened to a new view this morning. Yesterday, the Plaxtons and the Browns moved into their combined home in Carmel Knolls.

The new house was designed by Don, who is an architect. He and Mr. Plaxton have done much of the construction work themselves. It has been time-consuming labor during weekends and long summer evenings. The ground was broken for the dwelling on October 8 last year.

Hopkins Family In Town

The Sam Hopkins family of Partington Ridge have come to Carmel to live, "That is—sort of," Mrs. Hopkins says. "We're in our house on Santa Lucia, here in town, really because of the children, and schools. The three girls, Jory, Darien and Heidi, are now enrolled at Santa Catalina School for Girls. Chris is attending River School and Craig is at Sunset."

The family all rush back to their house in Big Sur for weekends and holidays where, they say, breathing and laughing are much more fun.

Charter Bus Tour To Art Exhibition In San Francisco

Next Thursday, the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts will conduct a chartered bus tour to three San Francisco Art Museums for the exhibition, "Man—Glory, Jest and Riddle — Survey of the Human Form through the Ages." This is the first single exhibition ever to be shown at all three museums.

The bus will go, first, to the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum to see art dealing with the human form from ancient times through the 17th century, including oriental and primitive examples; second, to the California Palace of the Legion of Honor for art work of the 18th and 19th centuries; and, third, to the San Francisco Museum of Art for the 20th century art. The exhibition has been assembled from museums, collections and universities all over the United States.

Included in the tour will be gallery talks by members of the museum staffs and lunch at the Cliff House. For information and reservations call A.F.A. Headquarters, 624-2918 on weekdays from 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Saturdays from 2 - 5 p.m.

Ceremony Yesterday For Local Veterans At Memorial Arch

Although Carmel's Veterans Day ceremony was arranged, according to Paul Artellan, past Commander of Carmel's American Legion Post, at almost the last moment, about 100 persons participated in the prayer of remembrance at Carmel's World War I archway memorial at Ocean yesterday morning, also witnessed the placing of a wreath.

"It was through misunderstanding with other veterans' organizations on Monterey Peninsula that we were unprepared," Mr. Artellan told the Pine Cone, "In former years Carmel has been responsible for organization of the ceremony on Memorial Day, with other groups taking the major responsibility on Veterans Day.

"This year, so far as we know, the only other memorial service, for the men who fought and died in two world wars and in Korea, was held in Watsonville. You can be sure that next year we will make plans to properly show our respect and remembrance, well in advance."

The wreath at the base of Carmel's memorial archway was bestowed by Carmel American legionnaires, headed by Post Commander Kerman Alderson. The floral tribute was placed by Paul Artellan's daughter, Wendy.

WHERE ARE YOU?

When the wind-whipped waves of the sweeping sea;
and the seeking moon;
and the swinging stars;
and the singing birds
all speak of love . . .
I cry in the night:
"Where are you, Love?"

—Nonee Nolan

INDIFFERENCE

Indifference will trap
the heart and bog it down into a smothering swamp not found on any map . . .

For this is but a slow and stagnant form of death devoid of faith or doubt or balm or shattering blow . . .

Better by far the dense hot tropic of desire or arctic of cold hate—but not indifference!

—Richard Cayton

MILE HIGH MESA

Dust swirls across the mesa,
Whipped by a rustling breeze;
Tossing staid oak branches;
Fantastically the trees
Bend in stately rhythm
To adventure's ecstasies.
Slowly evening shadows
Speak peace to a restless world;
Dust settles back to earth; and soon
Dark waters gently undulate
Beneath a golden moon.

—Grace R. Ballard

AMBER AUTUMN

Oh to have wings
and fly with the birds,
when summer's gone!
the court is stagnant with hint of death,
amber autumn's burning breath,
now summer's done.
There is no song!—
only the surly snarl of jays, and stupid towhees, unaware,
sit on a roof and stare.

—Marian Shirley Petray

ALADDIN IN CARMEL

Re-printed below is a newspaper clipping, written by a roving reporter, who was greatly taken by the wondrous things displayed in Mr. Winter's shop, The Village Jeweler, on Dolores Street.

"Aladdin, lost in his cave and putting out his hand to the trees which bore the fruits of glorious color and fashioned of precious stones, was no more astounded than is the Carmel visitor who just happens into the 'ear-ring' shop. It can't be, one thinks, on being told that there is a place whose sole stock in trade is ear-rings. It is altogether unlikely that a merchant would say, 'This one thing I do,' and then stick to ear-rings, of all things.

"And it isn't quite that way, really, because there are a few—a very few—other bits of jewelry to be found in this little cave. But these are far outshone by the main item, a piece de resistance which whets but never satisfies the appetite.

"Recently a New York salesman unloaded his sample cases before the doorway of this small establishment. He came as missionary to unknown parts, for isn't Carmel, California, a tiny hinterland village which tries hard but doesn't quite know how? On stepping inside, he fell back, dismayed. There was no need for missionary work here—not in his department, anyhow.

"'The Village Jeweler,' whose astute owner has collected all this loot and put it under one roof, literally has the largest and most surprising display of ear-rings in the United States. No foolin'. And it takes a mighty stout-hearted woman to pass up the feast.

"Did your grandmother own some beautifully wrought bracelets of soft gold, with classic designs running through the pattern? And, having had these appraised, have you taken them down to the bank for safe keeping? You can match them here in ear-rings, and at a painless price. Persons knowing the value of Grandma's keep-sakes will be properly impressed at the ear-rings you have chosen to go with them, and you can save the price of an extra safety deposit box.

"Every color of the spectrum, softly muted, is here, in ascending or descending scale, as to hues and shades and tints. If it's azure or lapis Lazuli or rose or emerald or amethyst or topaz or gold or silver you prefer, you mention it. At once you find yourself in the predicament of the fellow who likes pie and is let loose in the cafeteria where the chef has out-done himself this day with apple and peach and cherry and lemon and chocolate and gooseberry and blueberry and raisin and custard and currant and squash and mince. He can't eat them all but he's happier than larks in the pop-corn.

"There are whole trays of each color, quite by itself. And these range in style from what you would wear to your Grand-Aunt Emma's tea for the ladies' knitting group to something dazzling for a night on the town in company with six drunken sailors. You accept a lapful of jewels from the trusting soul who is the proprietor and have yourself a big time. All HE has to do is hope your check won't bounce.

"There is something barbaric in almost every female. She 'hates' jewelry, maybe, but when she says 'jewelry' she almost never means little things to stick in her ears. Count the number of women you see who are not wearing brooches, bracelets, rings, necklaces or tiaras but who are wearing ear-rings. That's because The Little Woman feels kind of undressed without them. The Village Jewelers is for the likes of her. And it's worth the trip — from ANY distance. A Christmas shoppers' paradise."—Adv.

Parking Lot Solution To Sunset Costs

of the committee, liked this idea.

"Now we are coming out of the clouds and talking sense," he commented.

Mr. Fonseca pointed out that, through the lodging tax, tourists are paying for the purchase of the Sunset facility from the school district. In addition, the major part of the city's retail sales tax income is paid by persons from out-of-town and this tax "is the greatest source of revenue to the city."

He further observed that tourism is "here to stay" and that small convention accommodations at Sunset would be "the salvation" of the Sunset municipal cultural and community center project.

Mrs. McKay added her support to the proposal by stating that there are cultural groups who could use Sunset for conventions.

Mrs. Melvin also approved the convention suggestion. She indicated that sororities and other groups of the "highest quality" would welcome convention housing at Sunset. She favored the idea of "practical things" supporting cultural activities.

Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Melvin proposed an arts festival to raise funds for the Sunset center. Such a festival would stimulate all cultural interests in the community to plan "an extensive, exciting" fund-raising project, she predicted, but added that time did not permit a festival of sufficient scope being produced this year.

Mrs. Douglas McGregor, president of the Carmel Art Association, who was a member of the audience, said she thought a local fund drive would provide much of the money needed for the cultural center, but this drive depended, she emphasized, on keeping Sunset as a cultural center.

Dudley Nix, also in the audience, suggested approaching the Festival Theatre Foundation to see if it might use Sunset, at least temporarily. Mr. Fonseca commented that this group might have, for awhile, to settle for "crumbs rather than the whole cake."

Last consideration of the subcommittee was whether or not to alter their recommendation to the council that the Sunset center should be run by a non-profit group composed of representatives of both local cultural groups and the city.

The consensus was to stick with their recommendation. Therefore, Dr. Gilman and Mrs. Melvin will prepare a report on the non-profit group for the sub-committee at its next meeting on December 2.

This report will recommend the formation of such a group, also who, how, when factors of this formation. The relation of the group to the city will also be outlined and the responsibility of the members of the group, as directors, to the city council, will also be included in the report.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Tumbleson, above, daughter of Sam E. Coleman, Carmel's city treasurer, last week was named vice president and cashier of the Security National Bank by William A. Burkett, president of the Peninsula's only home-owned bank.

Editor's Column . . .

is earmarked to amortize the 20-year $575,000 bond issue passed by the voters last April to buy Sunset School from the Carmel Unified School District.

Fifty percent of the yearly average quoted above is $38,298. The payment due next year on the Sunset School bonds is $23,530. So it appears that there is little danger than the Sunset purchase will not be fully covered in future by the lodging tax, especially when one considers that it is going to be increased one percent.

Moreover, it appears there will be funds left over. These will be placed in a time deposit bank account and earn interest. Should lodging tax income wane, instead of waxing as it now is, the city will have a bulwark of solid cash against any diminution of lodging tax revenue during the next 20 years.

Therefore it appears that the financing of the purchase of Sunset School for a municipal cultural and community center is a rosy picture, thanks to Carmel's lodging industry.

The 50 percent of the lodging tax remaining, after the allocation for Sunset School bond payments, is to be divided between future capital improvements and the acquisition of greenbelt.

Perhaps the city may eventually see its way clear, using some of these funds, to build a much needed new police station and street department facility, also provide volunteer fire department needs as they arise. If the city does this, citizens will have to thank the lodging industry with saving them property tax assessments.

More motels and hotels, as the citizens committee infers, might indeed be detrimental to the character of the community but those presently existing within the city limits are contributing a sizable sum of money towards the improvement of the community.

This is a fact of life in Carmel today. Let's face it, also give credit where it's due! —M.L.

Carmel High Battles Pacific Grove Saturday For Gold Shoe Trophy perform their drills and give their yells.

The song leaders, Kathy Bingham, Patsy Porter, Viki Brinsmead, Debbie Smith and Nancy Thompson, will serenade her Royal Highness.

The Carmel High School Band will perform.

It will be a great day for Carmel high school students, and a record crowd is predicted. Dozens of mothers are "regulars" each year in the CHS grandstand. It is interesting to note the fathers, some whose children have long since left Carmel High School, who never miss the Carmel-P.G. game. Seen cheering season after season are Judge Gordon Campbell, Robert Forbes, Eben Whittlesey, Ralph Thompson, Fred Elstob, Bob Osborne, Jack Clayton and Bob Shirley.

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann is a "regular," also Reed Pollock, Al Champe, Jim Kelsey, George Mosolf, who as "Coach" led CHS teams to victories for 17 years.

Also, "Diz" Newman, Barney Laiolo, Harry Hilbert and friend of more teen-agers than he can count, the Carmel Youth Center's Jack Giles. There are many others, who, nothing short of a hurricane will keep away on Saturday. They'll be right there, cheering for Carmel High's 1964 varsity football team to retain the Gold Shoe.

CAR CLASS AT YOUTH CENTER

A new kind of Car Class will open tonight at the Carmel Youth Center at 7:30 o'clock, when Bob Shirley and Carmel Police Officer Walter S. Bailey will instruct boys and girls in mechanics and automotives, how to make minor repairs on their cars, and save money. All Carmel teen-agers may register.

Girl Scout Report

by Cathy Toldi

Recently, Troop 2063 visited the home of Mrs. Sigurd Liseth, who is the mother of Kari, a member of our troop.

Since we are working on our hospitality badge, we had to learn how to set a table properly. Mrs. Liseth agreed to help out.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Raymond Kelly, and Mrs. A. Miller drove us to her house.

We had a meeting there, and then Mrs. Liseth showed us a formal table setting and a buffet table setting which she had kindly gone to the trouble of making up for us. She explained to us basic table manners, also table setting rules, which we discussed. She let us set our own settings on a separate table. Mrs. Smith, our leader, quizzed us in a game about all we had learned.

Last of all, we were served apple cider.

We learned very much, and we thank Mrs. Liseth very much.
